

"I Am Going to Buy a New Bed To-day"

—announced a woman who recently came into our store.

"I have just finished the spring house-cleaning, but my bed is so shabby that it spoils the whole room—"

"Can you show me something moderate in price, that is really substantial and good looking?"

We asked her to name the dominant color scheme in her room. Then we showed her one of the new Simmons enameled steel beds, which had just arrived—a bed which exactly harmonized with the decorations in her bedroom.

"Why," she said, "this is the bed I've read about in the magazines!"

We called her attention to the massive tubing and solid construction. We explained how the handsome appearance of the enamel was due to the manner in which it was flowed onto the steel—four separate coats—and then to the thorough baking it received.

We demonstrated how this hollow-tempered steel tubing made the bed one-third lighter than the old style enameled iron beds. How this difference in weight meant unmarred floors and no injury to rugs. We showed her the Simmons frictionless casters made the bed easy to move.

We took her through the entire stock of beds—showed her brass beds—in both satin and bright finish—steel beds with natural wood finish—spotless white beds—and a host of new shapes and styles.

But this woman came back to the first bed and bought it.

Is your home in need of a handsome, comfortable bed at a low price? If so, see us this week. We can please you, no matter how particular you may be.

Accompanied by Messrs. Hubbard and Ryan and Miss Gladys Wilson of the high school faculty, the 1917 class of Spaulding enjoyed its annual straw ride to Berlin pond Saturday. Before the members of the men's club of the First Presbyterian church last evening, the pastor, Rev. Edgar Crossland, delivered an interesting lecture on "Yellowstone Park, the Wonderland of America," the lecture being the last of a series of club meetings held during the winter and spring months. There was a gathering of 75 men, including club members and their guests. Rev. Crossland's lecture was accompanied by stereoscopic views developed from a large collection of camera pictures which he took while passing through the park with Mrs. Crossland sometime ago. Each feature of the national preserve was carefully described by the speaker and he was given a vote of thanks for his contribution to the series. Prior to the lecture there was a brief business meeting and afterward a substantial luncheon was served. It is planned to arrange another series of lectures next fall.

Notice to the Public.

Eye witnesses said the boy, who is scarcely more than three years old, darted in front of the team of a sudden. Mr. Kingston drew his horse to a tight rein, but not before one of the animal's hoofs had struck the child. One wheel of the wagon passed over the boy's thigh, but a physician who hurried to the lad's home, could not discover any broken bones.
